Chinamen in Massachusetts.

The Chinese shoemakers who have been brought to North Adams, Mass., appear to have found that the prejudice of race has not been entirely subdued, even in that ancient commonwealth that has long been pronounced on all questions of freedom and equality. About seventy-five shoemakers of the Mongolian race and of yellow complexion were hired by a Mr. Sampson of North Adams. They arrived last week on Saturday, and spent a few days in adjusting themselves to their new home. They were soon, however, ready for work, when it turned out that not a white disciple of St. Crispin in the whole town would work with them, or work at all, except on the condition that they be dismissed and sent away.

This was of a little consequence, and was easily disposed of. But the North Adams shoemakers held a meeting for consultation, and voted to blow up the Chinese establishment and drive off the new-comers by violence. Mr. Sampson, however, was not to be thwarted in his plans by proceedings like these. He placed himself and his workmen under the protection of the law. The police were mustered, and the Africanian and German shoemakers were kept at bay. The whole population is on the side of the Chinamen and their employer. Mr. Sampson has been encouraged to persevere, and there is no doubt of his ultimate triumph and complete success.

Other manufacturers in Massachusetts, it is said, are making arrangements to introduce Chinese laborers into their establishments, and it is probably that these pioneer capitalists in New England will soon be followed by many others. They work for twenty-three dollars a month with lodging and fuel, a rate that will soon make itself felt in the price of shoes at the establishment in North Adams. They are said to show great aptitude, not only for their work, but also for learning to read and the acquisition of knowledge generally. Nothing can be more absurd than the attempt to prevent them from being employed in any or any other form of labor in which they may be found serviceable. It can only be as futile as the attempt to destroy labor-saving machinery when it was first introduced. There is only one way of getting on with them and that is by entering into the competition which their presence invites, and showing an intelligence and achieving results higher than theirs. It is able to prevent them from coming or to hinder them in their work, as it would be to suppress the steam engine. They are here to meet a want that must be satisfied and other people have only to make room for them.

Claims of a Distinguished Indian Chief and Guide.

The claim of Black Beaver, a Delaware Indian, is now before the Senate Committee on Military Affairs. He belongs to the Delaware tribe, and was in the employ of the government all or nearly all of the time since the commencement of the Mexican war. During that time he was captain of a company of Delaware and Shawnee in the United States Army. Since that time, up to the commencement of the late war, he had been employed as guide and interpreter by the different commanding officers at the posts of Fort Arbuckle and Cobb, in the Indian Territory, and by the superintendents and agents for the Indians in the vicinity of those forts. He was at Fort Arbuckle about five years and at Fort Cobb one year, immediately preceding the late war, and during that time had invested all of his means and earnings in cattle and hogs, and had at the breaking out of the war a large stock. In the spring of 1861 Gen. Emory requested him to guide his command, as also the combined commands from Fort Smith, Cobb and Arbuckle to Fort Leavenworth, but he hesitated about leaving his stock until General Emory assured him that he should be paid by the government for his services, and on that representation he complied with the request and came with the commands to Fort Leavenworth, and remained there till the war ended. When he returned to his place he found his stock was all gone, some of the cattle having been killed by the wild Indians and some by the Southern army. He has never realized a cent for the property he abandoned and is now in need. He comes up his losses at $22,000. General Emory speaks of Black Beaver's invaluable services and earnestly presses the justice of the claim of "this aged and worthy man," and says, "The extinction of the commands of which Beaver was the guide from the frontier of Texas and the country of the rebellious Indians acting in sympathy with the South, which I was enabled to do by the aid of Black Beaver, had a momentous effect in favor of the Union party, on the destiny of Kansas and the State of Missouri, and I exceedingly regret Beaver's claim has not been before acknowledged."

The New Law Department.

A bill has passed both branches of Congress, and will become a law as soon as signed by the President, creating a new department. It was originally introduced by Mr. Lawrence, of Ohio, was once reported favorably by the Judiciary Committee of the House, and comes now from the Retrenchment Committee. It is in nineteen sections, and was drawn up with great care. The Attorney General is to be the head of the new department, with the same salary as at present, and under him as to be a solicitor general with a salary of $5,000 each. The solicitor of the Treasury, naval solicitor, law officer of the State Department, Law Officer of the Internal Revenue Bureau, with all their clerks and messengers, are transferred at present salaries to the new department, and hereafter all law business of the government is to be done under the supervision of the Attorney General, who, like other members of the Cabinet, must report to Congress annually. He has full control of all his subordinates, and may send them where he pleases to execute laws for the government. Questions of law from all other Departments may be sent to him for settlement, and he has the same charge of patronage and disbursement in his department that other Cabinet officials have in theirs; supervising, however, all accounts. The District Attorney, Marshall and other officers of the United States Courts now exercised by the Secretary of the Interior, is transferred to be in the hands of the Attorney General. Heads of other Departments are prohibited from coming at the public expense, and an extra counsel must be employed by the Attorney General, except as authorized by law. In

Reduction of Taxation.

The following are the amendments passed by the committee on finance to the House bill for the reduction of taxation. They strike out the first eleven sections of the bill, being all which provide for the reduction of various special taxes, including the tax on bankers, rectifiers, dealers in tobacco, lotteries, passports, &c., and provides for the repeal of all special taxes whatever, from May 1st, 1871, excepting the special tax on brewers, and the tax on distilled spirits and tobacco. The bill reported also provides for the repeal, on the 1st of October, of the several taxes on sales imposed by the existing laws, except such as are paid by stamps and the sales of leaf tobacco, snuff, foreign and domestic cigars, distilled spirits and wines. It also repeals taxes on articles named in schedule A, special taxes on boats, barges, and flats, on legacies, successions, passports, and gross receipts, said repeal to take effect on the first of next October. The committee also propose to strike out all sections of the house bill relating to stamp, thereby leaving in full force the provisions of existing laws relating to stamp taxes, with the exception that stamp taxes for a less sum than $100, and on receipts for any sum, and on canned and preserved fish, are to be repealed from the 1st of next October, and no stamp shall be required upon a transfer or assignment of a mortgage except on sale thereof, or when transferred or assigned as collateral security. The bill provides also that matches, cigar lights, and wax tapers may be removed from the place of manufacture without payment of tax or affixing stamps thereon, under such regulations as the department may prescribe. The rate of income tax remains at 3 per cent, with the exemption $2,000. The committee report in favor of striking out the provisions of the house bill, requiring manufacturing, mining, gas, coal, and bridge companies to pay tax on lividians.

An Important Decision.

The Supreme Court of New Jersey has decided a very important question, which has arisen in many places; it is whether a farmer or huckster has the right, according to law, to back up his cart on any man's street front, and then retreat out his wares, and a still further question has arisen: have city officers the authority to grant men license to do so? That question has now been decided in the Supreme Court, and the verdict is in favor of the people. Mr. David Laverick, of Paterson, N. J., on behalf of the people of that city, forcibly ejected a nuckster from his street front, who had permission from an Alderman, and was arrested and arraigned for assault and battery. The lower Court decided against him, the jury being instructed to bring in a verdict of guilty, that the case might be taken to the Supreme Court for final decision. This was some four months ago, and the Supreme Court last week rendered their decision in favor of Mr. Laverick, and against the right of city authorities to establish a public market out of the public streets.

SCIENTIFIC EXPEDITION TO BRAZIL.

Prof. Hart, of Cornell University, is now en route for Brazil. He sails for Para on the 23d, at the head of an expedition consisting of thirteen or fourteen Cornell students of natural history, who will spend the next six months in scientific research and exploration of South American lands. The party are well prepared for business and under the skilled leadership of Prof. Hart can scarcely fail to have a profitable time of it. The Professor has twice visited Brazil and was highly complimented by Prof. Agassiz on the value of his studies and observations in that country.

Titusville Morning Herald.

There is a man in Wooster, Ohio, who has had eleven wives, and been divorced from them all. The last one was divorced last Saturday, and got $1,200 alimony.

A Louisville paper proposes that if Whitehouse be readmitted to Congress all honest men in that body resign.

The latest scandalum is, how many and who would resign?

A Minnesota school board, by a vote of two to one, declared lightning rods dangerous, as they attracted lightning, and ordered one of the buildings over which they presided.

The language has already been enriched by the term "stalage," to describe a process by which Indian appropriations are diminished.

Fellemeers nippers are a new invention to aid in pulling refractory criminals. Policemen must be careful, however, not to take too many nippers.

Among the attractions announced for a fête given last week by the ladies of the Emmanuel Church, New Orleans, were "the coolest champagne punch in the world."

An insane gentleman in Chicago went gunning the other day, his game being street-car horses, and was arrested.

Why would Samson have made an opera singer? Because he could so easily have brought down the house.

An intelligent youth, recently engaged in a commercial office, made out a shipping bill for "fourty" barrels of flour. His employer called his attention to an error in the spelling of forty. "Sure enough," replied the promising clerk, "I left out the 'ph'."

The city dog-killer of St. Louis is under a herding suspicion. It is alleged that he kills the dogs several times over, knocking them on the head day after day, as long as they can stand it, and charging him the sum of twenty-five cents per dog each time.

A huge Greenland shark, taken off the Bell Rock, and exhibited for two or three days in Edinburgh, has been stuffed and placed in the collection of British fishes in the Museum. The monster, measuring about 15 feet, is one of the largest, if not the very largest, whose capture is on record.

How to rid itself of the grasshopper plague is Utah's engrossing question. All the available force is fighting the insects, and all kinds of remedies are advocated. Driving a flock of sheep hurriedly over a field of grasshoppers is said to depress the "vermin" as much as anything.

A Pittsburgh juror voted for murder in the second degree, because he thought it was Campbell's second wife that was murdered.

The Ann Arbor, Michigan, University has a freshman that recently drank twenty glasses of lager and ate four pounds of cheese at one sitting.

Miss Lina Elwin (director), Mr. G. H. Clarke, Mr. James Lewis, Mr. Henry Barker, Mr. McKee Runkin, Miss Fanny Davidson, and Mrs. Mary Wilkins are members of a burlesque company organized to perform in Brooklyn this summer.

One of the Beecher girls used to say that she had three relatives to grudge her in copying her father's MSS.—If a letter was dotted it was not an i; if a letter was accented it wasn't a t; and if a word began with a capital letter it didn't begin a sentence.

The piano manufacturers of London turn out 104,000 pianos a year, and the wonder is what becomes of them all.

Why should the Suez Canal improve the visionary powers of Egypt? Because it makes it an eye-land.

When the war ended, Kansas had no railroads at all. Now she has more than a thousand miles of railway within her own limits, and an abundance of railway connections with every part of the country.

College students have a legend of a mechanical and perhaps sleepy person, who prayed at morning prayers that the "in-efficient" may be made efficient, the intermittent temperate, and the industrious "quiescent."

Philadelphia has to have a refrigeration exhibition, and there will be a warm rivalry among the different manufacturers.

An Indian near Fort Scott, Kansas, recently traded two mules for a set of false teeth, and proudly wore them, necklaced with beads.
